

DCM Headquarters Office

In 2016, DCM opened our new headquarters in what was once Camden's Fire Station No. 6. Dating from 1909, the building functioned as a firehouse for decades until its company relocated in 1978. Our firm fell in love with the original character of the space, with the exposed brick interior walls, hardwood floors, a three-story hose tower and stunning views of the Benjamin Franklin Bridge and Philadelphia skyline. Our team constructed the fit-out using recycled and re-purposed materials. Daylight fills the upstairs open space studio while the lower floor serves as a gallery.

TECHNICAL SPECIFICATIONS

Project: DCM Headquarters
Client: Juan in a Million Holdings
Year(s): 2015 - 2016
Location: Camden, NJ
Area: 9,000 SQ FT
Type of Project: Historical Restoration/ Building Re-Purposing
Role: Architect, Engineer, General Contractor

